Too late for last week

Our Ladies Aid gave an excellent supper in the schoolhouse on Tuesday 19th, which reflected great credit on the genius of the cuisine. The tables were all occupied, and a large number of hungry individuals adorned the doorway, sents. The heavy of dainty waitresses would be hard to surpass, and the building was decorated elegantly. Paintings by our popular teacher Miss Inkster put on a bright aspect, and (as our American Cousins would say), It was a howling success.

conflagration lasted till sunset greater part of his chattels, but cause is unknown.

Governments and Commissions

Canada has become a land of Commissions. There is the Railway Commission, the Civil Service Commission, the Deep Waterways Commission, Harbor Commissions, the Soldier Settlement Board, the Pensions Board, while Commissions almost without number have been appointed in recent years to inquire into this, that and the other question. In addition to the many Commissions appointed by the Dominion authorities, every Province has a number of these bodies created under Provincial statutes.

Other Commissions and Boards have been created to discharge administrative functions, oft-times of a semi-judicial character, when Governments have been faced with problems where, for political reasons, they did not care to assume direct responsibility in administration because of the pressure they knew would be applied to prevent a strict enforcement of the law, or because of the unpopularity which must inevitably ensue from a proper adherence to the regulations laid down and through the application of strict business principles.

While not condemning Commissions as an institution in government, it is open to question whether all Governments in Canada, both Federal and Provincial, have not made mistakes in a too frequent resort to them and thereby created a feeling of want of confidence among the masses of the people.

Be that as it may be, one thing is at least clear. If a Government transfers to a Commission important administrative duties and responsibilities which ordinarily belong to Government itself, then it is the bounden duty of that Government to support and uphold the actions of such Commission, except where it is shown that the Commission has been derelict in its duty, has exceeded its powers, or has shown marked partiality in administration.

Last summer, one by one the members of the Board of Commerce resigned from office because of disagreement with members of the Dominion cabinet, until, at last, there was no Board left in existence. Readers will recall the sensation caused by the resignation of Mr. Mordock and the charges of interference with the Board which he made publicly in the press. The Government thereupon appointed new members to the Board. These men recently issued a most outrageous order prohibiting the importation of sugar into Canada, ordering that all Canadian purchases of sugar must be made from Canadian refineries, and fixing the retail price of sugar at 21 cents a pound, plus freight, although there were large surplus stocks in the country and sugar was retailing as low as 10, 11 and 12 cents a pound in the United States. An outraged public forced the suspension of this order by the Government pending an investigation, but it was so palpably framed in the interests of the refiners solely and against all other classes of industry using sugar and the people of Canada generally, that it had to be absolutely cancelled.

The fact that in the creation of these Commissions, Governments always reserve to themselves the right of over-riding the acts and decisions of the Commissions—undoubtedly a necessary precaution under democratic institutions—only goes to show that in the final analysis Governments are responsible for the acts of such Commissions.

The sooner Canada gets back to the straightforward plan of clearly defined Government responsibility in all acts of public administration, with Parliament as a free and untrammelled forum for the discussion of all public questions and grievances, and the final arbiter in all matters, the better for the Dominion.

The butter production of Alberta will be in excess of 12,000,000 pounds this year, according to the province's leading creamery authority. He states that it will far exceed the notable record of 1919.

Manitoba Butter.

Enough butter to cover 265,000,000 slices of bread was produced in Manitoba this year, according to L. A. Gibson, provincial dairy commissioner. Of 8,250,000 pounds produced, 4,100,000 have been exported, he stated.

Will Give Demonstration

Arrange to Test Alberta Coal in Winnipeg Furnaces.

The Alberta mines branch has arranged to open a demonstration plant in Winnipeg for the purpose of trying out different grades of Alberta coal and showing the Manitobans how to use them. For the next four months experimental fires will be kept going in a number of different types of furnaces besides cook stoves and heaters. Marcus C. Syme, resident combustion engineer, will be in charge.

The coal will be secured from the regular stocks of the Winnipeg dealers, and no attempt will be made to pick samples. As a result of recent tests in one of the government boilers in Winnipeg an order has been given for 2,500 tons of Alberta coal.

STOP LOOK and LISTEN
before purchasing a baking powder that may possibly contain injurious ingredients. Many food scientists claim that baking powder containing alum is unsafe for use in food. The mere fact that some brands of baking powder have the words "No Alum" on the label is not sufficient proof that they are what they are represented to be. Our chemists find a good many have "No Alum" on the outside but large quantities of it inside.

GEE, BUT IT'S GOOD FOR A BAD COLD

Nothing Can Touch Catarrh-ozone In Guring Quickly.

You may dislike taking medicine—but coughs are best cured without medicine. The modern treatment is "Catarrh-ozone"—it isn't a drug—it's a healing vapor full of pine essences and healing balsams. It spreads over the surfaces that are weak and sore from coughing. Every spot that is congested is healed—irritation is soothed away, phlegm and secretions are cleaned out, and all symptoms of cold and catarrh are cured. Nothing so quick, nothing so sure, so pleasant as Catarrh-ozone. Beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Catarrh-ozone. Large size which lasts two months, price $1.00; small size, 50c; sample size 25c, at all dealers.

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day is warm and bright and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds and make baby thrive. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Wild Duck From New York is Found In Alberta.

From New York state wild ducks drift northwestward to Alberta according to the inscription found on a band on the leg of a pintail shot on the outskirts of Camrose recently. The inscription bore the wording, "Released by the American Museum at New York. Will the finder of No. 35793 please notify us." Carl Jensen, who shot the bird, is communicating with the museum authorities and is having it mounted. Roughly speaking, it would be about 2,500 miles from New York to Camrose.

The Provincial Irrigation project at the Returned Soldiers' Settlement, South of Penitence, B.C., is advancing satisfactorily. About 450 men are employed on the work, most of whom are returned soldiers. By spring it is expected that the work will be completed, making it possible to bring 4,000 acres of good land under cultivation.

They Cleanse the Bowels.—The presence of undigested matter in the lower bowel is the most common cause of many ills, which afflict mankind. But instead of using harsh purgatives it is better to use Parlee's Vegetable Pills. Years of use have completely demonstrated both their harmlessness and efficiency. They are of purely vegetable origin and, while cleansing the bowels, at the same time tone up the entire digestive system.

"When a man has lost ambition to 'dig in' and stay at things—when he complains of headache, fullness in the right side, pains in the shoulder blade—it's purely a case of 'Liver.' These symptoms invariably indicate a clogged, inactive liver. The body can't get rid of its wastes, and the whole system is half paralyzed. Dr. Hamilton's Pills stimulate the liver into activity in one night. Being a mild vegetable laxative they produce results in a few hours. The bilious headache and constipation are cured, spirits rise, complexion clears, animation returns. Nothing in the calendar so efficient for that tired, lazy feeling as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. (Continued)

He picked up the cat and smoothed her crumpled ears with his big hand. "That was nice on to forty year ago," he said, "and I've been wandering about the lush ever since, excepting a few years I was down in the Southern States, ranchin' it. I picked up a lot down there, but nothing worth keepin'. I guess. What I was goin' to say was, I never see a mother and her boy together without a big something I can't name standin' right out before me, and that something is what I've missed by not havin' a mother."

Widow-Ross laid her pipe on the table. "Tommy," she commended, "you go right down to the spring and bring up that bucket of milk, and don't you spill it, or I'll pull every one of them red hairs out of your head. I don't suppose you've lost your appetite now, lately, Bill?"

"Periodically only, marm. I ain't got over my likin' for brick-cooked bread and milk, particularly the bread of a lady I know to be the best cook on Totherside."

Mrs. Ross showed two rows of white teeth in a pleasant smile. Then her face grew stern again.

"Totherside," she flashed, "why I don't take that as much of a compliment, Bill Paisley. Ain't I the only woman on Totherside?"

"Beginn' your pardon, I mean on the whole countryside—Bridgetown included," retrieved Bill gallantly.

"What be you all goin' to do about Halldar, asked the woman, sitting down at the spinning-wheel.

Bill shook his long hair and chuckled. "I got scolded once for sayin' what I thought about sellin' our timber, so don't ask me."

The widow's heavy brows met in a frown. "Here you are forty years old, and that's old enough for you to have some sense if you're goin' to have any. And I must say I don't think you nor Big McTavish nor any of you Backwashers have an ounce of sense among you. Here you are fightin' for a fortune, or at least keepin' money, which you might have, out of your pockets, Bosh! I believe that Boy McTavish has got you all under a spell."

"Boy is sure the strongest and bitterest fighter amongst us," agreed Bill. "But we're all of one opinion. We like the woods, and I guess we have reason to. It has give us all a mighty good livin', and somehow, somehow, I believe about it that cleared land ain't got words and sounds and silence and I'll leave."

"Be careful now, you rich women again," admonished the woman. "There you, Tom, so the pull down on the table, then go to the outhouse and bring in the bread, the brick-baked loaf."

"Mrs. Ross," said Paisley, "you're not only a good looking woman, but you're a good housewife too. Once I hoped I might be your son-in-law and have all the brick-baked loaf I wanted, and the cow-cake which you can bake. But Mary Anne seems to think different, and I'm thinkin', after all, she had some reason, so she is only something about twenty-two years old and me nearly twice that."

The widow put her finger on her lip and glanced furtively toward the door. Then she looked with commiseration at Paisley, and approaching him in a crouching attitude, whispered:

"Mary Ann is goin' to marry the teacher."

Bill's stool, poised on two legs, came to the floor with a thump.

"Marry the teacher?" he repeated; "marry the teacher? Well now, I'll be turkey-trapped. I didn't think he was brave enough to ask her."

"I ain't sayin' that he has asked her, an' I'll cry the widow. 'But I've got two eyes to see with, haven't I, Bill Paisley?'"

"Aye, marm, to do whatever you like with," answered Bill pleasantly, his own eyes on the loaf of bread which Tom had just brought in. Then noting the widow's ruffled dignity, he smoothed it with "I'd know who baked that bread by the appetizing smell of it. Says I to Big McTavish just yesterday, 'There are some good bread-makers in this here place, but none of 'em quite like widder Ross.'"

"Time Big McTavish had his last loggin'-bee he sent for me to come and help with the cookin'," said the widow, as she poured the foaming milk from the pail into the big earthen bowls. "I made a custard in the dishpan. There was forty-two eggs in it, and it was good, if I do say it myself. Not one man in the lot of 'em that set down to the table but asked for a second helpin'."

Big Mac told 'em all when made it, and some that I've liked him better than ever. I'm makin' another just like it for Mrs. Dechute, and if you're at Dechute's loggin'-bee next Thursday you'll be sure to sample it. Big McTavish says that Andler's loggin' 'll be a good 'un, all right, if I make a custard for it."

"He's one man in five hundred, marm, is Big Mac," answered Bill. "Why, Mrs. Ross, there's not an Injun in the bush, no, or on the Pointe, who wouldn't fight tooth-and-nail for him. He's been mighty good to the Injuns, has Mac. Any time they want anythin' he has, they go to him and get it. And Gosh, why ain't you smuggin' them Injuns about her little finger. They all time the world of her."

"I'd like to know who don't think in word of Gosh. She's a dear girl—how's her sweet face?"

Bill with a spoonful of milk-soaked bread went the way to its destination, suspended operations for a moment.

"Widder Ross," he said, "God never made a better girl, nor a better lookin' one, unless it was your Mary Anne."

His repast finished, he reached for his rifle.

"Must be goin'," he said in answer to the widow's invitation to "set longer."

"I'll call in on you again soon, widder. Good-night."

"Good-night," responded the woman.

She was lighting her clay pipe and did not so much as turn as Bill walked out.

Paisley skirted the scrubby walk and passed along the edge of the button-wood grove toward the path across the fallow. A whippoorwill was voicing its joy from the limb of a dead ash. The moon had sunk above the bay, and its wide splash of light lay across the fallow, a blanket of milky haze. Bill lifted his head and breathed in the clear, wood-scented air.

From the valley came the monotonous buzz of a saw. Suddenly Paisley dove into the hazel-thicket. He had heard footsteps approaching, and rightly divined that it was the teacher and Mary Ann.

Not until the young people had passed through the grove and emerged into the interval beyond did Paisley step out from his hiding-place. Then he looked toward the sinking moon and sighed.

"She's not for the likes of you, Bill," he murmured as he turned to the path again.

Tommy stood before him. "Bill," he said excitedly, "I want to tell you somethin'. I've got to tell you, Bill, or I'll bust."

"Why, Tommy," said Bill, "thought you'd gone to bed."

"No, I slipped out and followed you, but I saw them comin' too, and I ducked same as you did. Say, B'll, you don't think much of Mr. Simpson, do you?"

Paisley laughed queerly. "Well, Tommy, and what if I don't?"

"Well, I overheard him and that Watson man plannin' some things together the other day. I thought I wouldn't tell anybody, but I can't keep it any longer."

He stood on tiptoe and whispered something in the man's ear. Paisley gripped the lad's arm.

"You're dreamin'," he cried. "No, Bill, I heard 'em make it up between 'em," gasped Tom. "An' what I want to know is, what's going to be done about it?"

"I don't know," answered Paisley absently. "I don't know—I'll have to study this thing out."

His square jaw was set and he toyed with the lock of his rifle.

"You haven't told anyone else, Tommy?" he asked.

"Then don't. I'll see you in a night or two. Keep your eyes on the teacher. Remember, if Big McTavish or they hear what you've told me they'll kill him sure. You know what that will mean."

Too Much Appetite may be as dangerous as too little

When the skin is sallow or yellow, the eyes dull, the head aches or sleep broken and unrefreshing, the back aches, or there is a pain under the right shoulder blade—it is an indication that the body is being poisoned by poorly digested and imperfectly eliminated food-waste. CHAPTER XV. War Tactics.

Paisley paddled slowly across the creek, drew his skirt into the willow bushes, and picking up his rifle, walked along the edge of the creek until he reached the bay. It slept gray and cold beneath the moon, and all about its tranquil waters a ragged tree-frame stood spiral-like and shadowy—a disheveled cloud in an open blotch of sky. Paisley gazed across the bay, his face fixed and his whole attitude one of protest.

Does the Untutored Redman See Beyond the Veil?

A Remarkable Prophecy By Ki-Nis-Tin a Powerful Indian Chief, and its Sequel.
By O-GE-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyrighted)

In the Prince Albert Herald of April 19th, there is an interesting paragraph as to a Lac la Ronge Indian who foretold his death to the day, a week in advance, though apparently quite well at the time of his prediction. This reminds me of a similar incident right here in the old days which may interest some of our readers.

Ki-nis-tin was by far and away the leading Indian in this locality when I settled here in 1884 and a man of very strong character. He had a following of some fourteen braves amongst whom, his eight sons were notable as fine big men, skilled hunters and splendid shots, and they were all armed at that time with repeating Winchester's. Ki-nis-tin purchased all supplies, sold all furs trapped by the band and personally transacted all their business; his trade alone had practically enriched Xavier Patoche, who was his favorite trader. At that time he was not on friendly terms with the Hudson's Bay Company, towards whom he held a grudge, as parties who had sold the Indians birthright.

On several occasions he gave me warning that I was encroaching on his hunting grounds by settling down on my old farm and warned me to leave before worse would happen. I made several attempts to get on good terms with him but it was not until the year 1887 that I was successful, and we finally became great friends; the first white man, he informed me, that had been honored by his friendship.

Neither he or his small band had accepted the treaty with the Government. In fact, being wealthy in horses, furs and supplies of all kinds, he looked on the $5.00 per annum (which each treaty Indian received from the Government) with contempt.

Ki-nis-tin had many chats with me, by the camp fire, over the future of his band and what would become of them after his death. After having had pleasant and profitable trading relations with him for some years, one of the sons (Taas-ko-tup-tung) came in from their wintering camp, at that time some seventy-five miles to the northeast, with an urgent message to me to come out at once. The month was February, weather cold and lots of snow. Packing up a small trading outfit I started back with the young Indian next morning, reaching their main camp about noon on the third day out. As usual I was a guest of Ki-nis-tin and after the customary trading had taken place he sent all his people out of the tepee and turning to me, said "You wondered why I sent for you." "Yes," was my reply, "I thought perhaps you were sick, so brought along my medicine chest."

He laughed, said he never felt better but his time was growing short. "In what way?" I asked. "Well," he replied, "when the buds come on the poplar trees, just before they break into leaf, I will go to join my Father's." Still, I did not quite understand him, so asked him again to explain his meaning, and then he told me clearly and simply that he had received warning from the spirit world and that his death would take place at the time stated, "early spring." I felt distressed as I was really fond of the old man, not that he was so very old, between sixty and sixty-five I would say, and apparently in perfect health. I endeavored to shake his belief and told him he never looked better but he simply refused to discuss the matter.

He then went on to say that I was the first white man he had ever made a friend of; that he trusted me fully and had a grave charge to leave me. "Look at my children and followers, what will become of them when the head dies. On thinking deeply over the matter I have decided it is useless to 'kick against the pricks,' the day of the Red Indian is gone; it will be better for them to follow the example of other bands; take the small government pittance and become reserve Indians; but for myself, Ki-nis-tin will never take their treaty money."

Here the old man stood up in the tepee, dropped his robe and stood upright before me, only a breech-cloth covering his nakedness. A fine specimen of a savage, truly; six feet in height and handsome aquiline features; a number of scars on his broad breast made by arrows and bullet wounds in old-time fights with Blackfeet on the plains.

Pagans, we call them, but the secrets of the other world, that noted scientists like Sir Oliver Lodge and Canon Doyle are now trying to explain to humanity, were no secrets to Ki-nis-tin as he was constantly in touch with the world of spirits and felt no fear; rather, in fact, rejoiced that he would soon join their numbers.

Now, he went on to say, "I want you after I am gone to get the land where our graves are, and where I will be buried, for a Reservation." My reply was, that a promise of this kind was not in my power, but I could, and would, try my best to get this land reserved for them. "Very well," he said, "keep your word in this and long shall be your life and prosperous your days in the future. Break your word to me and evil spirits shall haunt your existence and make your life miserable." He then went on at length on other points regarding his people, finally, calling his family, we all retired for the night.

The weeks went by and just at the time indicated, before the poplars burst into leaf, my children came running into the house calling, "Daddy, there are two big Indians outside, they look very miserable." On going out a glance told me that Ki-nis-tin's prophecy had come true for these were two of his sons; their hair dishevelled and blackened faces told the story, and sitting down quietly beside them, they gradually related the facts of their father's death and how peacefully he had passed away—literally slept with his fathers—in full confidence of a happy hereafter (and who can gainsay it).

Thus was the old man's prophecy literally fulfilled, and I thought to myself, many things are revealed unto the simple and concealed from the wise.

Ki-nis-tin's legacy proved a heavy one, as it took some years heavy correspondence with Ottawa; this was made more complicated by lumbermen, keen after some spruce timber on the proposed reserve. Finally, thanks largely to Hon. David Laird who was Indian Commissioner at the time (who like King Arthur's men was a very perfect knight; no personal wires to pull, like, alas, many of our modern politicians) the reservation became a fact, but the name of Ki-nis-tin, which I wished commemorated, had an O added to it by some red tape clerk, Kinnistino Reserve came into being and my old friend Ki-nis-tin's bones rest in peace.

Some years ago it was again my privilege to assist one of the old man's sons, "Ne-pa-ni-quah-nip," known to many old timers as Nipi. It was rapidly going blind and evidently needed expert treatment. After a spirited fight with the authorities I received permission to take him to Winnipeg where the services of a good oculist partially saved his sight.

Formation of Canadian Council of Child Welfare

New Organization Will Arrange Program for Work-Through-out the Dominion.

Ottawa.—The outcome of the Dominion Child Welfare conference held here was the formation of the Canadian Council of Child Welfare. The objects of the new organization as set forth by Dr. Young, of British Columbia, are to co-operate with the Child Welfare division of the Department of Health; to prepare and disseminate information on child welfare work and to recommend a program for the work throughout the Dominion.

Any nationally organized bodies interested in child welfare work are to be represented on the council. The recommendation provided for two representatives from each of these bodies; but several delegates from western provinces and from Quebec thought this would mean a preponderance of Ontario people on the council, and on a vote being taken it was decided to make the representation for each national organization one.

Dr. John A. Amyot, deputy minister of health, explained the relationship which might exist between the voluntary organization and the Department of Health. If the council desired to put on a nation-wide child welfare week, he felt sure the department would help in every way possible.

The first resolution brought in by the resolutions committee recommended appointment of a minister of parenthood in the Dominion. The resolution pointed out that the post would be by no means a sinecure and that it was a necessity. It referred to discussions which had taken place at the conference showing the necessity of the organization's efforts in taking care of the mother as well as the child.

The final resolution, which was adopted amid applause, asked that legislation be enacted prohibiting the placing out of children either in free or boarding homes except by adoption, or except by the sanction of some responsible official of the specific organization appointed by the province to look after this work.

Surprised at Election Result.

Victoria, B.C.—Premier John Oliver, voicing surprise at the result of the referendum, said that in view of the expression of public opinion, the necessary legislation to repeal the existing act and to bring into effect the principle of Government control would be brought down by the Government. The will of the people would have to be met. The Premier had nothing to say on the possibility of an early election.

HEART SO BAD WAS NOT SAFE TO LEAVE HER ALONE

Miss Eva P. Yatesman, Krugersdorf, Ont., writes:—"I feel that I must write and tell you of the benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. About four years ago I was taken terribly bad with my heart nerves and fainting spells, and was down in bed for several months. I doctored with two different doctors and seemed to get better, although the fainting spells would not leave me. I would take such terrible falls, wherever I was, that it was not safe to leave me alone at any time. At last I decided to resort to proprietary medicines and took several different kinds, but seemed to receive but little benefit from them. One day noticing the advertisement of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I decided to try them, and before I had taken more than two boxes I could see they were helping me. I have taken about ten boxes, and am almost cured of those terrible spells. I sincerely feel that your medicine has proved a blessing to me, and I advise any one troubled with their heart to try them, as I am confident they will find relief."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The I. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Toulouse, France.—Earthquake shocks were felt recently in several places in the Hautes Pyrennes Department.

Box Social and Dance Makes $200 For School & Band

Far in excess of all expectations, was the success that attended the Box Social, held in the Big Hall on Monday last in aid of the Monitor School, and the Monitor Citizens Band.

Dancing started pretty well on time at 9, and it was soon evident that a record crowd be present. Many were present from Consort and some friends from the south also took part in the festivities.

It was unfortunate, in a way that more boxes were not made for the occasion as they would have met with a ready sale. As it was however, the handsome sum of $200.00 was raised from the proceeds of the boxes and the admission fees to the dance

A splendid social time was had by all present, and we hope there will be more gatherings of a similar nature during the coming winter.

Mr and Mrs. L. H. Woodrow returned to Monitor at the end of last week.

Mr. Harry Matthews left on Wednesday for Toronto and Hamilton.

Mr. L. Venoit left yesterday for Saskatoon.

Women of Canada Testify

Dear, Ont.—"I am more than pleased with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was run-down and so nervous that I could not even stay in the house alone in the day-time and tried every kind of medicine I heard of but got no result. One of my friends advised me to take 'Favorite Prescription,' said that it would cure me, and it did. After taking four bottles I felt like a new woman."

WEAK AND NERVOUS

Tillsonburg, Ont.—"I found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription an excellent medicine for the ailments of women. I had become very weak and nervous. I was just miserable when I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription' and it proved most beneficial. It completely restored me to health that I have never had any return of this ailment. I do advise the use of 'Favorite Prescription' by women who suffer with womanly troubles."—MRS. GEO. WALKER, P. O. Box 490.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made of lady's slipper root, black cohosh root, unicorn root, blue cohosh root and Oregon grape root. Dr. Pierce knew, when he first made this standard medicine, that whiskey and morphine were injurious, and so he has always kept them out of his remedies. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it in liquid or tablet form.

DRAWING ON YOUR RESERVE STRENGTH

This is What Thousands of People Throughout the Country Are Doing.

Thousands of Canadian housewives are working from day to day on their reserve strength. They are drawing more and more on their reserve strength, knowing full well that they are using up that vital force which often means life or death in the crisis of disease. They are the victims of a feeling of hopeless exhaustion after the performance of even the small tasks which were only the simplest and easiest parts of the day's work. They find the appetite failing, sleep is disturbed and unrefreshing; they lose weight, and always feel tired and depressed. A condition of blood-building tonic is needed to restore health and activity, and for this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed. If then the trouble will have progressed to a point which makes full recovery slow, but the treatment should be persisted in and renewed health and activity will be the result.

The case of Mrs. W. Schooley, R. R. No. 2, Tillsonburg, Ont., well illustrates the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in case of health breakdown, through weak, watery blood. Mrs. Schooley says: "For upwards of five years I felt my strength declining, until at last I could not do light chores around the place. Then a doctor was called in, and after doctoring about a month he said that only an operation would help me. I did not feel like going through this, and decided that I would rather die than wait a while. I had no appetite, often had headaches accompanied by dizzy spells; several times I had fainting spells, and my legs would swell, and I could not even sweep a floor without resting several times. Again a doctor was called in and he said the trouble was general debility and nervous breakdown. The treatment, however, did not help me, and then one evening as my husband was reading the paper, he came across a case in many respects similar to mine, cured through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The next day he got me a supply of the Pills, and to their continued faithful use for several months I owe my present splendid health. I may say that soon after beginning the use of the pills I felt a gradual improvement in my condition, my appetite improved, I began to feel rested after a night's sleep and I gained in weight. My friends were continually expressing surprise at my improved condition, as it was generally believed I had become a chronic invalid. I always take a delight in telling them that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are responsible for my present good health, and as they have been a real blessing to me I shall always continue to praise them."

If you are suffering from any condition due to poor, watery blood, or weak nerves, begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now, and note how your strength and health will improve.
